

Commentator Responsibility ENEE 303 Spring 2011

The commentator should read the paper of the assigned presenter and pose questions raised by it.

On the day of the presentation being commented upon, the commentator should come to class with three written questions concerning the paper being presented. One of these questions should be posed to the presenter at the end of the presentation and all three handed to the instructor at that time.

Although the presentations as such will not be graded the commentator questions will be considered in the final course grade.
